Mr Dove has more than 25 years of experience in the payments, retail financial services, and fintech.

- He was an executive at Cardtronics since September 2013, most recently responsible for the $850 million North American business. His investing activities focused on early-stage and growth opportunities in payments and retail financial services, including direct investments in early-stage payment companies in the U.S. and Europe. In addition, he provided advisory services to Private Equity firms on deals in payments and retail financial services.

- Prior to Dove Capital Partners, he founded and ran the Dove Consulting Group for more than 20 years. During his consulting career, he focused on the development of enterprise and business unit strategies for leading players in payments, retail financial services, fintech and consumer packaged goods. In addition, he devoted significant time helping clients implement strategy, including reorganizations and M&A deal structuring.

During his tenure at the Dove Consulting Group, he served as CEO, growing the business organically and through acquisition into a well-known and respected firm, with offices spanning the United States and Europe. In 2005, he sold the business to the U.S. consulting subsidiary of Hitachi, and became Managing Vice President of both the Financial Services and Strategy practices.
